
CITATION TO ACCOMPANY THE AWARD OF
THE JOINT SERVICE COMMENDATION MEDAL

TO

MILDRED M. BROWN

Sergeant Mildred M. Brown, United States Army, distinguished herself by exceptionally meritorious service as Communications Center Supervisor and Data Communications Operator, Headquarters and Support Squadron, Joint Communications Support Element, MacDill Air Force Base, Florida, from 3 March 1997 to 3 September 1998. During this period, Sergeant Brown's exceptional technical knowledge, management, and dedicated efforts were directly responsible for the enhancement of the unit's operational capabilities. As a communications planner, she tracked the deployment, operations, and redeployment of Joint Staff directed exercises and contingencies, keeping the unit commander abreast of operational changes. Sergeant Brown rendered invaluable assistance as the unit Network Operations Center communications security noncommissioned officer. Her technical prowess and drive for excellence ensured all official message traffic was delivered to the tasked branch in a timely manner. The distinctive accomplishments of Sergeant Brown reflect credit upon herself, the United States Army, and the Department of Defense.
